

I'm Spartacus

Background To the Team

"I'm Spartacus", is a team of treasure hunters consisting primarily of three CGI employees + 1 ex-CGI employee...although to be honest it's now down to 1 CGI employee and one ex-employee who had a look at a couple of questions...I'm afraid the demands of parenthood have had an adverse impact on our time available to do this across the board.

We have been doing the treasure hunt now for a number of years, dating back to the London Parks quiz back in 2008. Our successes have varied from last to fifth-from-last several years ago. Our approach to the quiz is that of plucky amateurs, scratching the surface and enjoying ourselves, but not overly confident of finding the treasure (in context, we never have done before). There are lots of exciting tales of how we spent our Christmas breaks driving around the countryside, having lengthy sessions in pubs and endless hours doing "research" on the internet, but unfortunately few of these relate to the ATH itself. All good fun though!

Adam.