Treasure Hunt Date Released

Just a few more days to wait for The Armchair Treasure Hunt

Michael Burton

Monday 17th December has just been announced as the date that the Armchair Treasure Hunt for 2018 will be released. This is the thirty-second Armchair Treasure Hunt and it is an opportunity to keep your brain active over the Christmas period by answering questions, solving riddles, cracking codes and making links in order to locate where the treasure has been hidden. So switch off all those old films on the television and look at PablosATH.com for more information and to download the Hunt when it is released at 5pm GMT. The Pablo Memorial Trophy will be awarded to the first team to locate the treasure and the Dave Harding Trophy to the best submitted solution (the same team cannot win both). Additional prizes are available to teams captained by a paid up member of the CGIS.

Burghfield Box Kart Bash competitor at full speed.

Thrills, wheels and flying automobiles

Daniel Hart

The annual Burghfield Box Kart Bash was another great success this year with some of the Box Karts hitting record speeds despite having to negotiate a number of ramps as shown in the picture above. The event, organised by the Burghfield Santas, raises money for a number of charities. Thames Valley Air Ambulance, Macmillan Cancer Support and Sue Ryder Homes are among the charities expected to benefit from the funds raised from the event or through individual team sponsorship.

Trump's Library

EXCLUSIVE

Naomi George

President Trump will inaugurate a new American library of his collected wisdom in the city of Berkley in Iowa in January. Given that the population at the 2010 census was 32 people they are looking for a redundant vintage phone box to house the library. A competition is to be held to decide what to do with the rest of the space. The President has tweeted that this will be the greatest library in the history of civilisation.

Viking Treasure Hoard Found

INVESTIGATION

Al Howard

Metal detectorists Jonathan and Henry Grafton have found a hoard of Viking Treasure at Creake Abbey, including a gold coronet and two signet rings. This is a significant find given that the most interesting thing found during earlier searches in the area was a frying pan. It was the most amazing find we've ever had said Jonathan. Cape Verde Islands Archaeological Society are expected to bid for the hoard, although they will face competition from the local museum. The hoard has been declared treasure trove with a total value estimated to be £2.7M.
